Streamlined Compliance for Frontline Manufacturing Teams

Streamlined Compliance for Frontline Manufacturing Teams

Compliance is a top priority for manufacturing companies everywhere. From tackling risk management and legal requirements to uplifting your team and building their workforce skills, ensuring your compliance process is efficient and effective from the very beginning is key.

However, navigating compliance training can be complicated. Ensuring your team members have the necessary certifications and training to perform their jobs safely and effectively is essential to develop comprehensive programs that address all aspects of learning, understanding, and retaining critical safety information.

With Propelr's Learning Platform, you can leverage the technology you need to simplify onboarding and give your team the tools to succeed from the start. With customizable training paths, gamified learning options, and robust tracking and reporting tools, your company is ready to excel at navigating compliance training and regulatory requirements.

The Compliance Challenge in Manufacturing

One of the biggest pressures for manufacturing companies is regulatory compliance and ensuring certifications, training, and other compliance requirements are always up to date. Organizations with lower regulation compliance show an average cost of $5.05 million, a 12% increase compared to the average cost of a data breach. Noncompliance can be a costly mistake as well as dangerous and risky, leading to financial penalties, production delays, mishandled private data, and reputational damage.

Manually managing complex and frequent audits can be challenging and time-consuming, increasing the risk of errors, delays, and inefficiencies in organizing your data. While staying aware of new requirements and regulations is admittedly a challenge, leveraging new technology with tools that modernize the process can make it less of a concern.

A Better Way: Customizable Compliance Training with Propelr's Learning Platform

The top three barriers preventing manufacturing teams from confidently addressing compliance risks are a lack of knowledgeable personnel, inadequate resources, and poor company culture. By leveraging new technology like Propelr's Learning Platform, which combines compliance training with tools to navigate regulatory requirements, these concerns can be a thing of the past. With the key features built into Propelr's Learning Platform, you can:

- Customize training: Employees in different positions will need different training. Customize training paths for your team depending on their position, whether they need onboarding or regulatory training, upskilling, or compliance-focused training.

- Track certifications: Congratulate your team on training completions while keeping track of outstanding certification requirements. Whether your team needs technical or quality certifications, you can easily manage who has what certifications and what is required. Plus, ensure that information is always accessible for audits and regular inspections.

- Simplify training assignment and management: Make it easy to see who on your team still needs to complete training and assign them the necessary tasks. Track incomplete tasks and requirements to ensure training is completed in a timely fashion.

- Reduce onboarding time: Establish efficiency from day one by streamlining onboarding and minimizing the time it takes to get new employees up and running.

Simplify the compliance training process no matter where your team is. From onboarding new employees to ensuring your staff is following current compliance regulations, establishing a system that makes your compliance protocol easy to learn and maintain is crucial for every manufacturing company.

The Impact of Gamification on Compliance Success

When creating a program for employees to follow for their compliance training, you'll need to keep them engaged and motivated all the way to completion. With gamification, you can turn training into a process your staff can look forward to.

Highlight your team's achievements with unique custom badges, target their competitive side with leaderboards, and make it easy for them to track their progress from start to finish. Make compliance training more accessible and efficient, motivating your team to not only complete their courses but also retain the information they learned.

Beyond Training: Reporting and Audit Readiness

The process of managing compliance manually is long, tedious, and complicated. 60% of governance, risk, and compliance (GRC) users still manage compliance with spreadsheets, spending much more time on tracking and reporting than those that use a technology solution like Propelr. Propelr's Learning Platform simplifies the process with more automation and less manual reporting requirements, giving you more time to focus on your business. Key reporting features you can experience include:

- Automated tracking: Say goodbye to manually tracking with spreadsheets and chasing your team for status updates. Automate tracking to save your team time and eliminate human errors.

- Real-time reporting: See your company's compliance data in real-time, making it easy to navigate audits, reorganization, and other cases where having the most timely and accurate information is crucial.

- Centralized data: Create one secure place to store your company's compliance data, making it easier and more efficient to access the reports you need for audits or other regulatory maintenance.

Managing your company's compliance data can be tedious and difficult, but by leveraging the right technology, you can create a streamlined process that enhances security and efficiency for your team.
